That failure - coupled with record immigration under the Conservatives - was a huge reason for the party's catastrophic defeat on July 4.

'Iran is teetering on the brink — this could make regime even more deadly'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

2024 must rank as one of the worst years for the Iranian regime. Israel has humbled and decapitated Hamas and Hezbollah in Gaza and Lebanon, with key assassinations along the way, including Revolutionary Guards commanders and Hamas leaders. The deaths of President Ebrahim Raisi and Foreign Minister Hossein Amir-Abdollahian in a helicopter crash earlier this year scuppered succession plans for Tehran into the bargain.

'Brexit-bashing Michel Barnier's career in ruins with Emmanuel Macron teetering'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

France has been plunged into political chaos following the unceremonious ousting of Prime Minister Michel Barnier and, with it, his Macronist agenda for the EU's second largest economy. Marine Le Pen - leader of France's nationalist National Rally party - now has power in her sights. Her party, with its commanding presence in the country's National Assembly, joined Leftist groups to oust Barnier over his EU-backed deficit-busting budget.

'Kemi Badenoch must commit to guest workers to redeem Conservative Party'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

The Tory migration numbers which came out last week demonstrate not only how tough it will be for the party to regain public trust on the issue of immigration but could point a way for new leader Kemi Badenoch to redeem the Conservatives. In a major policy speech, also last week, Badenoch suggested both a visa cap and renewed deportations for small boat arrivals. Yet there was no commitment on numbers nor a recommitment to the last government's Rwanda plan.

'Marine Le Pen humiliates EU as she holds Michel Barnier to ransom'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

France is on the verge of government collapse as lawmakers - led by Marine Le Pen's National Rally (RN) - fail to agree with former Brexit negotiator and political grandee, Michel Barnier, over a proposed budget endorsed by the EU. Prime Minister Barnier was ostensibly brought in by President Emmanuel Macron to be the grown up in the room. The new PM also had the broad backing of RN, not least for his newfound tough rhetoric over mass immigration.

'Key Donald Trump tariffs policy risks sparking war with China over Taiwan'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

Donald Trump has announced 25% tariff on imports from Canada and Mexico, something which could wreak havoc on both economies. This is a powerful tool for the Trump White House, one it could impose on almost any economy it feels doesn't play ball. However, it is doubtful the US would escape the full force of such tariffs which, if imposed on this scale, could augment pre-existing inflation, something which actually helped Trump to victory. Even The Donald's supporters would chafe at higher prices.

'Keir Starmer could face huge test on EU after fresh right-wing surge in Europe'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

Shockwaves have been sent through the EU and Western alliance after the nationalist and pro-Russian candidate Calin Georgescu topped the first round of Romania's presidential election. This, in a country which while ostensibly backing Ukraine has seen support for the country fall. In a GLOBSEC Trends 2024 poll for instance, 55% of respondents in Romania picked Russia as the primary culprit for the war, although that was 10 percent lower than in 2023.

'Keir Starmer won't be worried about petition demanding General Election now'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

Next year will be a key test of the Labour mandate, with over 2,000 council seats up for grabs. The May local elections will also prove critical for the Tories, who currently hold over half these seats. Both Labour and the Conservatives face a huge challenge meanwhile from Nigel Farage's Reform UK, which will be hoping to make big gains and establish the party as a major force in time for the next General Election.

'Keir Starmer humiliated by Labour grandee in good news for Nigel Farage'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

It comes to something when Labour grandee Lord Mandelson — tipped to become the next British ambassador to the US — says Nigel Farage should be used as a “bridgehead” to build relations with Donald Trump’s administration as well as Elon Musk. Mandelson said the UK should “swallow your pride” on the matter, by which he presumably meant a Labour government which has so far rebuffed the Reform UK leader's overtures to help.

'Keir Starmer could be shamed into humiliating U-turn by Donald Trump'

4 months ago | By Jonathan Saxty | Daily Express

Sir Keir Starmer might be shamed into action by President-elect Donald Trump in a major test of ties between the returning Republican and the British PM. Trump ally and Reform UK leader Nigel Farage has warned the Trump team is hostile to the Labour government's deal to hand over the Chagos Islands to Mauritius, albeit retaining the lease on Diego Garcia, the critical military base leased to the US.
